Annual Report 2019

In 2019, the number of members and thus also the contributions and private donations remained largely constant.

Nevertheless, the project goals of the association could be pushed forward and realised. In spring 2019, Justine was in Munich for three months for the third time. Her time at Noh Nee was put to good use: pattern and fabric selection, the interplay of pattern and fabric placement, adding to the cut, selecting special accessories and working them into and incorporating them into the garment are just a few of the finer points Justine is learning.

Especially important for her trainer, Mrs. Marie Darouiche, is the cultural exchange; Justine should get to know the European culture and fashion with its quality standards and develop an understanding of the requirements of the European fashion market in order to produce clothes in Benin with her trainees that can also be sold in Europe without additional finishing work. All together, a successful completion of her training that puts Justine on a par with a German master tailor.

This creates the conditions for Justine not only to earn a sustainable living and lead a self-determined life, but also to use her knowledge to train other people in Benin, who can then also escape poverty and earn a sustainable income. The sale of the products made through Noh Nee is the second pillar of the project besides the good training.

The project also received a further boost on the ground in Benin through cooperation with the "Liweitari" organisation, which is already established in Natitingou. (<https://www.liweitari.ch/>). Founded in 2009 by the Swiss Heinrich Roth and his wife Elisabeth, it operates a training centre ("CFL - Centre de Formation Liweitari") with the same ideals and similar goals and will temporarily provide rooms for the Justine project until its own centre is structurally completed.

In summer 2019, Prof. Schürmann, Biberach University of Applied Sciences, used the existing experience of Mr. and Mrs. Roth to do the final planning of our building project. This will include a well, a water tank, a living fence with perforated wall, a sewing studio with cutting area, a shop, a seminar area, office and storage as well as guest flats, toilets, kitchens and common rooms and an outdoor kitchen. The calculation results in total costs of about 160,000 €. This also confirms the decision to realise the entire project in several construction phases.

For the first phase, an application for funding will be submitted to the SCHMITZ Foundations for the construction of a well with water tank, solar pump and tapping points, which unfortunately cannot be expected to be approved until 2020.

In Munich, NOH NEE is organising another charity event especially with French women entrepreneurs. The proceeds will be used to build a small project house for Justine and the project staff.
